BRISTOL COMMUNITY COLLEGE SETS UP DIRECT LINE FOR ITT STUDENTS

FALL RIVER – In response to the abrupt closing of ITT Technical Institute, Bristol Community College has set up a direct phone line for students and employees who are looking for a solution.

Students and employees can call 774-357-4BCC (4222) to receive more information and speak with an admissions counselor who can best assist individuals through the transition. BCC offers an array of classes that overlap with offerings at ITT including criminal justice, business, electronics technology, information technology, drafting and design, and a host of health and medical career programs.

“Bristol Community College offers many courses that align with programs previously offered at ITT. The College’s eLearning classes can be completed 100 percent online, along with flexible courses that are offered at BCC’s Attleboro, Fall River, New Bedford, and Taunton locations,” said Kathy Torpey Garganta, Vice President for Enrollment Services. “The College has programs that are designed to accommodate students coming from anywhere: life experience as well as other academic experiences.”
