BRISTOL COMMUNITY COLLEGE TO OFFER NEW PROJECT MANAGEMENT CERTIFICATE PROGRAM

Bristol Community College is proud to announce a new project management certificate program. The program enables students to gain practical, analytical, and theoretical skills to constructively manage projects across multiple fields and industries. The program will begin in the 2017 fall semester at the BCC Fall River Campus, 777 Elsbree Street.

Set yourself apart in the job market. Consider diving into this growing field with Bristol Community College's new Certificate in Project Management. The program at BCC is designed to provide a quality educational experience that prepares its students to manage and lead project teams.

Why is project management so important? As company executives and entrepreneurs deal with the daily responsibilities of managing the business, the importance of hiring dedicated project managers to oversee projects from conception to completion is becoming a fast-growing field. Effective project managers carry out projects on time, on budget, and with minimal disruption to the rest of the business.

Course topics in the program include seamlessly integrating resources across a company's departments; time management; utilizing communication, planning, and budgeting skills to bring projects to completion; identifying activities required at each phase of a project; and more.

Take the next step. Attend a Project Management Information Session at the Fall River Campus, 777 Elsbree St. At the information sessions, students can review the program outline, ask questions, and find out how to quickly get started in the program. Light refreshments will also be served. Reserve your seat today for one of the following dates:

Project Management Certificate Program Information Sessions in the Commonwealth College Center (G-Building) Cafeteria, on the BCC Fall River Campus, 777 Elsbree St.

- Thursday, May 18, at 6 p.m.

- Saturday, May 20, at 9 a.m.
